There were little boys who were wandering around the old man's yard. One of them asked, "What are you doing here?" The old man replied, "I'm waiting for my wife." The boys were curious and asked, "Where is your wife?" "She has gone shopping," the old man said. "She will be back soon." The boys thanked him and left.

Soon after, the old woman's husband arrived and asked, "Where is my wife?" The old man replied, "She is out shopping." The husband was a bit angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The husband was disappointed and asked, "When will she be back?" The old man said, "I don't know." The husband left.

The next day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

The next day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

The next day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.

One day, the boy came back and asked, "Have you seen my wife?" The old man said, "No, she is still shopping." The boy was angry and said, "I need her help with the chores." The old man said, "I'll call her." The boy was disappointed and left.